THINKING OUT LOUD

By H. M. L.

We often hear men in business discussing the future, usually with some prediction of just when the depression will hit us. Under the late President Roosevelt we borrowed our way out of the 1930 depression, but we have a hunch, Congress will not again attempt this expedient. And when and if (we mention the "if" politely), the next depression hits, it may have an accumulated fury that even the businesslike Republican party cannot stay or halt.

We have no personal doubt of a depression coming since all conditions are ripe for it. Wages are up, prices are soaring, government, our attenuated New Deal government, finds itself bogged down among the myriad bureaus and government commissions spawned when FDR waved his princely wand and by borrowing the people's money and redistributing it to the so-called "under privileged" staved off the evil effects of depression. If we have another depression, with interest accumulated on the aborted depression of 1930, some millions more of us will join the present large group of pensioners and we wonder whether even the Republicans who will almost certainly be in power, with their long tradition of good business government, will be able to withstand the temptation to plunge further into debt. Since FDR so easily sunk the country into debt and elected himself to office for four cups of coffee, undoubtedly politicians of the Grand Old Party can put two and two together and make the sum of four.

Now when prices are high, and we do insist that high wages make high prices, and not vice versa, a buyers strike becomes the natural answer. When all prices become so high that only the very wealthy can afford to buy, business drops off, whether its beer or flat irons. When business drops off, the little business man suffers, he mades his suppliers suffer with him, and finally infects the manufacturing concerns with his suffering, until as in 1928-1930, every one is suffering.

We hope and trust that when the Republican party comes to power next January, it will resist the temptation to borrow, as a way of assuaging economic pains. We hope that the Republicans reduce huge bureaus that now crowd Washington and flood the country with inspectors, agents, and petty tyrants. We hope this army of bustling wasters and busy bodies is forced into honest and productive employment.

As matters now stand the average citizen is working about two months in the year to support government, and we have contended, that this in itself is a long step toward that collectivist condition, such as in Russia, in which every citizen exists merely to support his government. So far as the individual is concerned the Russian is just as enslaving as was the Nazi system.

To balance the budget and start on the long hard road to paying our bills as we go, paying off a little each year on the collosal debt bequeathed us by the New Deal and to shake off the dream of living at ease on the redistributing wealth of the industrious and thrifty—shared with the growing hosts of those who believe in something for nothing, "the country owes me a living" cult should be today's goal of Americans. America came to its great eminence in the world by hard work. It will not maintain that position by sharing the wealth of the industrious with an army of shirkers.

Still, the evil example set by the New Deal, which returned to power term after term, by the simple expedient of borowing money and redistributing it to the so-called underprivileged, must from now prove a tremendous temptation to any party which wins the national victory. We hope the Republicans will resist that temptation and take the straight and narrow way back to the American way of life that has brought us, for a time at least, to world leadership.

SIX SAN JOSE HUNTERS BAG FIVE BUCKS

A truck loaded with five big bucks, six hunters and one small springer spaniel rolled up to the city hall Thursday evening and Max Solaro, chief of police, proceeded to validate the tags.

The five bucks consisted of one four pointer, two three pointers and two forked horns. The hunters were all from San Jose and they had camped for a week near Bowman Lake where they had gradually accumulated a truck load of venison.

The hunters were Abramo, John and Clement Tabacco, brothers, Peter Messa, Ray Wilder and Carl Panighetti. The little springer spaniel's name is Cookie, and Cookie chased the bucks out of the brush.

HUNTERS BRING IN BIG DEER

One or two big bucks have been killed during the past few days. Theodore L. Larsen, hunting alone stalked and shot a buck weighing approximately 185 pounds with antlers of five and four points. Larsen killed the buck at his Omega Mine four miles east of Washington, Nevada County.

Gene Johnson of Grass Valley brought in a big buck weighing almost as much, also with five and four points. Ay Wharff, deputy sheriff, hunting on Washington Ridge just outside this city, killed a big four pointer.

Despite the influx of an estimated 4000 hunters on opening day in Nevada County, local Nimrods continue to bring in their bucks, bearing out the earlier prediction that deer were unusually plentiful this year from one end of the county to the other.

SIERRA CITY GETS LIGHTS

The march of progress has arrived in Sierra City in Sierra County. Its privately owned lighting system is giving away to poles and generators with juice supplied through the Pacific Gas & Electric Company.

For many years a small generator has supplied the inn and the homes in the mountain village. Frequently in years past the lights were allowed to burn twenty four hours a day. It was cheaper than to hire someone to turn them on and off. A 100 pole line will tap the nearest source of power.

John Alfred Westrup of Yuba City died of injuries yesterday morning suffered when his plane crashed at Webber Lake. John L. Davis also of Yuba City, was slightly injured, and was able to walk out to the highway between Sierraville, Sierra County, and Truckee, and obtain assistance from passing motorists.

Westrup died as he was being taken into a doctor's office in Truckee.

The two men were hunting deer, according to Coroner Alvah Hooper, and when the plane started to rise from the landing place near Webber Lake, it is believed the altitude and lighter air made it difficult. The plane, a light two-seater crashed into a tree

The body is at a Truckee morticians. Word concerning funeral arrangements is being awaited from a daughter who resides in Los Angeles.

A Letter From Ed Martine

Editor of the Nugget
Dear Sir:

In yesterday's issue of the Nevada City Nugget, Oct. 11, I read where my old Republican friend "Si" Sofge was born on April 18, 1782. Well, I was born a little later, June 23, 1882. I feel that I should start a fund and I have many of my Republican friends will follow suit in the Ferdinand "Si" Sofge Fund to build a nice home and a small income for the oldest human in our lovable County of Nevada. Yes, you dear Cousin Jacks and Jennys from Grass Valley may join us. Let's give him a cheer and a dollar.

Ed Martine, ex-marine World War One, 210 Park Avenue, Nevada City.

TERMINAL LEAVE PAY RECEIVED BY LOCAL VETS

The first enlisted men's terminal leave bond and cash balance for accrued furlough and leave time has been received in Nevada City. That application was made shortly more than a month ago and the return so prompt has been a surprise to veterans long used to "hurry up and wait" tactics. Nevada City veterans terminal leave applications were processed by the Veterans of Foreign Wars with the assistance of County Service Officer Noble McCormack.

Nevada City's first received bond is a $250 denomination one with a government chock for $17.30, the veteran having had no furlough time whatsoever during his military service. The bond is 3 by 8 inches and is named Armed Force Leave Bond. It carries the picture of Carter Glass. Terms of its redemption are printed on the reverse. The bond cannot be cashed for 5 years and cannot be attached. The cash balance is payable immediately.

It is expected that each day's mail will bring additional bonds and pay to Nevada City and Grass Valley enlisted men veterans.

VFW SAYS NO TO FEMALE VETERAN

It's still a man's world. With regret Banner Mt. Post No. 2655 has had to turn down the application of its first lady veteran. It was OK with Commander Garrison and the local members but national headquarters said no. The applicant who was reluctantly turned down by the local VFW was an army nurse.

A strong attempt was made at the national convention in Boston last month to permit Waes, Waves and Lady Marines who served in combat areas and meet VFW qualifications to join the organization, but without success. It's a stag outfit for at least another year.

TWIN CITIES MAKE CULTURAL EVENT A SUCCESS

Nevada City and Grass Valley can pride themselves on the spirit of co-operation that made the Community Concert Association a resounding success. Charles Kullman's program Thursday at the Memorial Hall in Grass Valley, got the season off to a grand start.

We predict that this spirit of co-operation is going to grow until one day will see the two communities joining hands in every major activity that can sensibly be conduceed together rather than separately.

Some day perhaps there will be a joint Nevada City-Grass Valley airport, a Nevada City-Grass Valley High School, a Nevada City-Grass Valley Hospital, a Nevada City-Grass Valley Junior College as well as other activities brought to fruition by the combined energies and intelligence of the Twin Cities of the Sierras. JUST WONDERIN'

I wonder why Bostonians
Should call their players "Socks";
That rude appellation now
The old tradition mocks.
Wraiths of the Lodges and Cabots
Oh, how they must shiver and squirm,
If they hear the far off echo
Of that most uncultural term—Red Socks.

By the time this appears in print, the World Series will be of the past and those of us who love the game, will have to wait an entire year before enjoying its thrills again.

I wonder if there is any more splendid example of democracy in action, than is to be found on the base ball diamond. Judged by their names the players are the scions of pioneer ancestors who came to America from the four corners of the earth. Working together for the success of the team, they exhibit examples of cooperation and coordination which our national and international leaders would do well to emulate.

Base ball is a great game, and I doubt if America can go far astray, so long as we have it to stir our sense of humor and make us forget for a time the swirling events of a perplexed world with which we struggle.

But I do wonder why Cultured Boston named its team, Red Socks: Can it be that the game is reducing the superciliousness of a town of which it was once said;
"Its the town of the bean and the cod,
Where the Lodges speak only with the Cabots,
And the Cabots speak only with God?"

Gone with the World Series is Fire Prevention Week; but let us dedicate every week to the tasks of fire prevention and inspect with critical eyes the causes of many a destructive holocaust.

What of the attic and the basement where old papers, boxes and other trash, accumulate and provide constantly growing fire hazard. What of the trash pile in your back yard?
It was by the pile of debris that I met him,
An officer mad as could be;
And I'll never foret the reproaches
That he hurled at my pile of debris.
"It's a menace to you and your neighbors
And the whole bloomin' town," shouted he,
"I'll give you just twenty five minutes
To dispose of this pile of debris."

Uncle Silas says; "Boston could not of course name its ball team, Blue Stockings, but she might well have called it, The Beanies, or The Cods; Still, the Red Socks have brought fame to the name, so I for one, am willing to iet it stand."—Adeline Merriam Conner.

Glenbrook Carpenter Returns From Norway

Louis Droivold, carpenter residing in Glenbrook, has returned from a trip to Norway where he visited his parents and five brothers and sisters.

Droivold reports that as far as he was able to ascertain the Norwwegians had not been treated badly by the Germans during the wartime occupancy of the country, except in cases where citizens were openly rebelious.

A shortage of table linen was responsible for feeding people in the Middle Ages. When linen was unobtainable bread dough about two inches thick was used in its place. When the edible tablecloth became soaked with wine and meat drippings it was given to the poor to be used as food.

SCOOP THURMAN WRITES OF HIS CANDIDACY

Editor Nevada City Nugget
Dear Mr. Leete:

You have probably heard that I have announced to campaign for the senate seat now held by Senator Jerrold L. Seawell when and if Governor Warren calls a special election. The vacancy will not occur until after January 1, 1947, and if the governor does decide to call a special election then it will require 90 days notice before the election can be held, making the earliest date that a special election could be held some time the first week in April. Following such an election and by the time the absentee votes are counted and the winner officially announced it would be the middle of April or later, before the newly elected senator could qualif. By that time the regular session of the legislature would be two thirds over. Whether the governor would call such a special election in Placer, Nevada and Sierra counties under these circumstances I do nto know.

I am advising you of this as I do not want the people of the 6th Assembly district to get any idea that they will be without an essemblyman. If the election is held and I am the successful candidate I will still be in the ssembly during most of the session and in the event that I did not win out, I would still be in the lower house for the entire term.

I hesitated making my announcement because I did not want to put the people of the ten counties to the expense of a special election and under these conditions I am sure such a special election will not be necessary. Due to the fact that there were other prospective candidates for the senate vacancy who would not campaign for the office if I ran. I was orced to announce my candidacy last week. About all the advancement than an assemblyman can look forward to is a seat in the upper house.

I have appreciated the support of the people of the 6th district during the eight years that I have served them and hope to continue to serve them whether I am successful or not.

With kindest personal regards, I am Sincerely, SCOOP.

NEVADA CITY HIGH SCHOOL HIGHLIGHTS

By HENRY MURPHY

"C" BASKETBALL TEAM LOSES TO PLACER

Placer's "C" basketball team returned home last night victorious after defeating Nevada City 16-0 in a hard won battle. The local five, led by Dick Howe, really put some stiff competition and the score board totaled 9-8 in favor of Placer at the half time, with Nevada City coming up fast. However in the last quarter some fast and furious action on both sides was witnessed, but Ross of Placer took the rebounds from both buckets and sunk most of Placer's score in this half.

Last nights lineup for Nevada City was Dick Howe, Lee Randall, Bud Hafelfinger, Ray Worley, Ken Hatch, Bruce Mehrammn, Alex Bjornstal, Bud Rhodes and Ed Wjocik. For Placer, Fuller, Packard, Roos, Makaboto and Masuda was the main strength with many in reserve if needed. High point men of the evening were Howe of Nevada City with 6 points and Ross of Placer with 5.

GIRLS GET THEIR MAN AT THE AMAZON DANCE

All wolf calls and whistles were decidedly of feminine voice and nature as the fairer sex turned the tables and got their man at the Amazon dance Friday night October 11. The dance, sponsored by the Girls League is an annual affair and is looked to with much amusement and high hopes for the girls.

As is suggested by the name, the Amazons did all the carpenter work and interior decoration which consisted of a small jungle hut all covered with leavs, vines and brush. Shrubbery along the walls and covering the stage completed the arrangement. Chairs were arranged along either side of the gymnasium and conveniently lead to a refreshment table piled high with coke and cookies. All who attended had an enjoyable evening.

HEADLIGHT TIP

In rainy weather your car's headlight efficiency can be improced by wiping the lenses with a rag moistened with gylcerine according to he California State Automobile Assóciation. Otherwise, raindrops that are not broken up collect on the lenses and diffuse the normal light. Application of glycerine causes the raindrops to spread evenly over the glass.

Landscape Architect Assigned To Tahoe National Forest

Forest Supervisor Guerdon Ellis announces the assignment of Lloyd Jorgensen as landscape architect on the Tahoe National Forest. This much needed adition to his staff will permit the survey and laying out of organization campground sites, summer home areas and recreation areas all of which have been in great demand especially by veterans.

Jorgensen is especially qualified in this field. He is a University of California graduate and has been engaged in landscape engineering since 1933. His landscaping assignments have been in the Kings River Canyon and Sequoia National Parks of California and the Glacier National Park of Montana, besides working for leading private home landscaping concerns.

The employment of Jorgensen on the Tahoe National Forest will be of great assistance to the district rangers who have been unable to allot the time needed to recreation activities which are now nationally recognized.

New Orchids Are Found In Columbia, Peru

BERKELEY, Oct. 14—New and previously unknown orchid specimens from the Andes of Peru and Colombia have arrived on the Berkeley campus of the University of California, having been collected by the University's Fourth Botanical Expedition to the Andes.

The expedition was organized by Professor T. H. Goodspeed director of the botanical gardens who has just returned from a trip to South America as a guest of the Colormbian government.

Three parties of the expedition led by South American botanists collaborating with Dr. Goodspeed are working in botanically unexplored territory. Two parties are working in Colombia and one in Peru.

The living orchid specimens complement the large collection from tropical America which was collected in three prewar expeditions sponsored by the university.

Dr. Goodspeed delivered a large number of lectures at the National University of Colombia and before scientific societies and made preliminary plans for the development of a botanical garden at Medellin.

Sportsmen Quiz Ott On One Buck Deer Limit

At the last meeting of the Sacramento-Sierra Sportsmen's Council a three hour discussion centered around the tction of the fish and game commission in extending the one buck law into the area west of the Sierra summit divide. Emil Ott, executive secretary of the commission attended the meeting and attempted to explain the reason.

It was brought out that the area north and south of the disputed district desired the one bucq law and that the commission in fixing this baundaries included the west slope of the Sierras.

The result of the meeting left little doubt that in the future matters pertaining to fixing of fish and game laws will be given more consideration.

The value of refined oil products produced during 1945 was in excess of four billion dollars at the refineries.

FOUNDRY DEALER FOR LINCOLN ELECTRIC CO.

Miners Foundry and Manufacturing Company of Spring Street, Nevada City have been appointed local dealers for the Lincoln Electric Company, Cleveland, Ohio. The company will handle the sale and distribution of Lincoln's line of arc welding equipment, electrodes and other welding supplies for agricultural users and service shops in this area.

The Miners Founry and Manufacturing Company will be serving users of a process that made possbile almost unbelievable feats of war production and which helped keep all sorts of existing critical machinery and equipment in good repair. Through this modern medium of joining metals, ships, guns, planes, tans, bombs and countless articles that were needed for our military forces were turned out in a fraction of the time that would have been necessary with other fabricating methods such as used in the first world war.

The extended application of welding has also been noted in the farming industry where many irreplacable farming tools were kept in working order with electric arc welding despite breakage and wear of parts.

MOST EVERYTHING has jumped up in price except GAS AND ELECTRICITY

The cost of food has jumped sky-high since the pre-war year of 1939 but the cost of preparing and cooking that food at home with gas or electricity has not gone up ...it's gone down. The costs of clothing and home furnishings have jumped 'way up, but the cost of gas and electricity to launder those clothes and clean your house is cheaper today than in 1939. In fact, most everything you bought for $1.00 in 1939 ... now costs you $1.35, $1.40 or more. But the average cost of GAS for home use has dropped 33 per cent and the average cost of ELECTRICITY in the home has gone down 16 per cent since 1939.

Merger Of School District Favored

The Grass Valley school board has indicated it will act favorably upon a resolution to be submitted November 1st, which will permit the Bear River school district to join the Grass Valley school district.

The Bear River school enrollment according to the trustees of that district, has far exceeded class room capacity. It is probable that the Bear River school will continue as in the past under the annexation arrangement, but that excess students would be brought to schools in Grass Valley by bus. A precedent for this was established several years ago when high school students from Bear River were brought to Grass Valley.
